Shepherd's Column

My Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

This week on October 2, we celebrate the feast day of the Guardian Angels. Guardian angels hold a special place in Catholic belief, serving as divine protectors and guides for individuals throughout their lives. Rooted in Scripture and tradition, the concept of guardian angels emphasizes God's love and care for each person. According to the Church's teaching, every individual is assigned a guardian angel at the moment of their birth. This belief is supported by biblical passages, such as Matthew 18:10, which states that angels are always in the presence of God, watching over the faithful. This personal connection underscores the idea that each person is valued and supported in their spiritual journey.

We see our guardian angels not only as protectors from physical harm but also as spiritual guides. They assist us in making moral choices, offering inspiration and encouragement in times of struggle. We should find great comfort in praying to our guardian angel, seeking intercession and guidance in daily challenges.

The Church encourages the devotion to guardian angels, and this practice fosters a deeper sense of awareness of God's constant companionship and the spiritual dimension of life. In essence, guardian angels remind us of our intrinsic worth and the ever-present support from the divine. They embody the belief that God is intimately involved in our lives, offering love, protection, and guidance through His heavenly messengers. As we go about our week, let us be mindful of our guardian angels, and ask that they pray for us!

In Christ,

Fr. PJ Brandimarti

Connecting the past to the present: Remembered Light features a collection of 25 art works created with stained glass shards from war-ravaged European cathedrals, synagogues, and chapels during World War II. U.S. Army Episcopal Chaplain Frederick McDonald collected and preserved these remnants and collaborated with Oakland, California-based glass studio Atelier Le Roux to share his memories of the war. Each of the artists who created pieces for Remembered Light incorporated stained glass fragments into striking art pieces that interpret themes of loss, devastation and the continual desire for peace. Each artwork includes a transcript from Chaplain McDonald's memory of the specific European location where he collected shards and the events related to them.

US VERSUS THEM

Reflection on Mark 9:38-43, 45, 47-48

These past few weeks we've been made privy to some of the frustrations that Jesus experienced in His ministry: Pharisees nitpicking about Jesus' followers not washing their hands properly; Peter not being able to accept that the Messiah would suffer and die; the disciples arguing about what makes one great. And today, Jesus encounters another all-too-human trait: Us versus Them.

John's irritation at encountering someone "who does not follow us" ministering in Jesus' name, parallels Joshua's rage (in the first reading) that two elders who were not present for the Lord's distribution of the prophetic spirit are nonetheless ministering in the Spirit. They must be stopped! At once! They are not part of our group, not part of Us.

Jesus uses this occasion not only to persuade His followers to a spirit of inclusion, but also to suggest that if we are taken with a sense of exclusion, it would be best to turn that inward and discover just what needs to be cut out, left out, loped off – excluded – from our lives/thoughts/hearts if we are to be true and faithful disciples. I've often thought that the best response to hearing this Gospel passage would be a thorough examination of conscience in preparation for celebrating the Sacrament of Reconciliation.

SAINT JEROME

Saint of the Day: September 29

Patron Saint of: Librarians, Scholars, Translators

Saint Jerome's love for God and His Son, Jesus Christ, was extraordinarily intense; anyone who taught error was an enemy of God and truth, and Jerome went after him or her with his mighty, and sometimes sarcastic, pen.

Jerome wrote commentaries which are a great source of scriptural inspiration for us today. He was an avid student, a thorough scholar, a prodigious letter-writer and a consultant to monk, bishop, and pope.

Saint Jerome is particularly important for having made a translation of the Bible which came to be called the Vulgate. As a modern scholar says, "No man before Jerome or among his contemporaries and very few men for many centuries afterwards were so well qualified to do the work." The Council of Trent called for a new and corrected edition of the Vulgate, and declared it the authentic text to be used in the Church.

He began his studies at his birthplace, Stridon in Dalmatia. He went to Rome, the center of learning at that time, and thence to Trier, Germany. He spent several years in each place, always trying to find the very best teachers.

After these preparatory studies, he traveled extensively in Palestine, marking each spot of Christ's life with an outpouring of devotion. Mystic that he was, he spent five years in the desert of Chalcis so that he might give himself up to prayer, penance, and study. Finally, he settled in Bethlehem, where he lived in the cave believed to have been the birthplace of Christ. Jerome died in Bethlehem, and the remains of his body now lie buried in the Basilica of St. Mary Major in Rome.
